At our annual Great Hall Assembly in November, we were pleased and honored to welcome four new members to The Seiberling Society, which recognizes those individuals who have generously provided for Stan Hywet Hall & Gardens through their estate plans. Our newest members are: Mr. and Mrs. Franklin C. Harrah, Pamela J. Maddern, and Mark Straffen. We recently caught up with these generous supporters to ask them about their favorite places on the estate.

“The Birch Tree Allée and the Solarium in the Manor House.”
- Franklin and Patricia Harrah

“I can’t pick just one spot! The Music Room, Manor House Kitchen, Plane Tree Allée and the nooks & crannies in the attic, where I worked as a volunteer.”
- Pamela Maddern

“The area around the Tea Houses and Hidden Aspect, where you can see down into the Cuyahoga Valley, but then turn around and see down the Birch Tree Allée.”
- Mark Straffen

All new members of the Seiberling Society receive a pewter reproduction of the Great Hall Entrance Key as a keepsake in honor of their generosity and foresight in supporting Stan Hywet Hall & Gardens. Each key has been handcrafted by Whitney Stained Glass.

Leave your Legacy at Stan Hywet

There are many ways that you can play a role in securing a strong and vibrant future for Stan Hywet Hall & Gardens. Not all require a financial gift during your lifetime. You can leave a tangible legacy to Stan Hywet by considering one or more of the following options:

Gifts by Will or Living Trust
Arrange a future gift without affecting your cash flow during your lifetime.

Gifts from Retirement Accounts
Your IRA or other retirement assets may be worth more when directed to Stan Hywet than to your heirs.

Life Income Gifts
A variety of options are available that can provide additional income to you or a family member during your lifetime, while leaving the balance to Stan Hywet upon your death.

Gifts of Life Insurance
Donate a policy that you no longer need, purchase a new policy to benefit Stan Hywet, or designate Stan Hywet as the beneficiary of a current policy.

To learn more about additional benefits related to these options, please contact Dan Blakemore at 330.315.3239 or dbblakemore@stanhywet.org.
